

Act – What will our Learning Experience at Forest Valley Look Like?

Each field trip to Forest Valley is designed to be a complete Inquiry Learning Cycle that can integrate with previous learning and ignite further learning back at school.

This Inquiry Learning Cycle is based on the inquiry processes found in the Kindergarten Curriculum \(p. 15\), Social Studies 1-6, History and Geography 7 and 8 \(p. 22\) and Science and Technology 1-8 \(pp. 12-18\), The Creative Process Arts \(pp. 19-22\), Achievement Criteria Language \(pp. 17-18\) and the Problem Solving Model Mathematics \(pp. 12-13\).

Collaborating with Nature (*activities will vary depending on weather, class readiness and availability)

1. Get me interested- *Engagement- Formulate Questions
 - Introduce students environmental art using the artwork of Andy Goldsworthy
2. Ask the Framing Question: How does environmental art inspire connection with nature and more understanding of movement?
3. Let me explore- *Exploration- Gather and Organize
 - Hike through Forest Valley and find examples of the elements of design and the principle of movement in nature
 - Explore potential natural art materials and installation site
4. Give me a chance to apply my learning- *Investigation- Interpret and Analyse
 - In small groups, plan preliminary work
 - Create preliminary environmental art out in the forest using the elements of design and the principle of movement
5. Let me talk about my learning- *Debrief- Evaluate and Draw Conclusions
Let me plan what I want to learn next- Communicate

For more information on inquiry learning from the Literacy and Numeracy Secretariat please read these monographs from the Capacity Building Series:

Inquiry Based Learning

Getting Started With Student Inquiry