Allergy FAQs

4. What is anaphylaxis? Anaphylaxis (pronounced anna-fill-axis) is a serious allergic reaction that is rapid in onset and may cause death. Individuals who have IgE mediated food allergy and are at risk of anaphylaxis should carry an epinephrine auto-injector (e.g. EpiPen[®], ALLERJECT[®]) which contains life-saving medication to treat an allergic reaction. At present, tests cannot tell us how severe a person's reaction will be.
