

Law in Action Within Schools

Elevating students through innovative law and justice education

LAWS is a 3-year program that lets high school students explore and experience law and justice. All our activities are designed to help students engage better with school, develop important skills and prepare for postsecondary education.

LAWS is a partnership between the University of Toronto Faculty of Law and Osgoode Hall Law School at York University. We work with over 400 justice sector volunteers to provide our students with an exclusive insight into the world of law.
