Course Description

This course enables students to broaden their understanding of math, as it is applied in important areas of day to day living. Students will solve problems associated with earning money, paying taxes, making purchases; apply calculations of simple and compound interest in saving, investing, and borrowing; and calculate the cost transportation and travel in a variety of situations.

Assessment and Evaluation

To promote student success, ongoing assessment and feedback will be given regularly to the students. A variety of assessment and evaluation strategies will be used in this course, including tests, quizzes, assignments, conversations and observations. A student's achievement of the overall curriculum expectations will be evaluated in accordance with the achievement charts in the provincial curriculum and will be reported using percentage marks.

Expectations are organized into four categories. The categories and their corresponding weighting is as follows:

Knowledge and Understanding	35%	Thinking	5%
Application	20%	Communication	10%

Each student's final mark will be in the form of a percentage grade based on their achievement in the 4 categories on the achievement chart. The breakdown of the final mark is as followed:

Term Evaluation	70%	Final Culminating Activity	30%
-----------------	-----	----------------------------	-----

The final Evaluation will be completed during the final 2 weeks of the course and may include a variety of summative activities including an exam, an assignment or task.

In addition to students' performance in the achievement categories, students will also be assessed on their performance in the following learning skills:

Responsibility	Organization	Independent Work
Collaboration	Initiative	Self-Regulation

For specific policies on assessment and evaluation, and academic honesty, please refer to Code of Conduct.
