Dear Tom Longboat Families,

I hope that everyone is continuing to stay safe this week. The TDSB is looking at different ways for students to access the curriculum while at home. Teachers are currently preparing for what that will look like in the upcoming weeks. In the meantime, I would like to share with you two additional resources for you to consider over the weekend:

Nelson Learning Resources

Nelson Publishers have opened up their literacy, numeracy and science resources for students during this period of learning at home.

- www.nelson.com/learningonline/k12openaccess/

Online Learning At Home – Resources

Educators in our Learning Network have compiled a comprehensive list of resources and links that I will attach to this email. These resources include:

- Ministry Learning at Home
- TDSB Student Learning Resources
- TDSB Virtual Library
- Literacy
- Numeracy
- Mindfulness
- Physical Activity
- Visual Arts
- STEM activities
- Fun Activities
- Typing Skills

I hope that everyone is able to spend some meaningful time connecting with your children this weekend. I look forward to touching base with you next week.

Sincerely,
Andrea Chisholm
